

OCR National Engineering Design

What will be assessed in 2022?

There will be 3 assessed units for the OCR National in Engineering this year, these are as follows:

- R105 Engineering Design Exam (exam resit on 16th May 2022)
- R106 Product Analysis & Research assignment (3rd May 2022)
- R108 3D Design Realisation assignment (3rd May 2022)

What won't be assessed in 2022?

OCR has stated that 1 assessed unit may be dropped for this qualification. For the majority of students the unit R107 Developing and Presenting Design Ideas will not form part of their assessment, but this decision will be made in consultation with the students class teacher.

Students that have already achieved their target grade for the R106 and/or R108 assessments in the summer 2021 teacher assessed grades (TAGS) will not be required to resubmit their assignment. They may, however, decide to improve their assessed work and submit for reassessment.

Additional support provided by the exam board for the 2022 year only?

Marking and moderation for R106 and R108 learning outcome 3 needs to consider that:

- candidates may have limited access to tools and resources
- some tasks may not have been carried out in a workshop. Explanations and descriptions may be limited in technical terminology.
